

SENDS

Student Event Notification Delivery System

Allows school administrators to send SMS messages to parents advising of:

- Absenteeism
- Transport notices (bus delays or cancellations)
- Changes to sporting events
- Emergency situations (such as a lock down)
- P&C messages
- Fund raising activities
- Other ad hoc messaging requirements

SENDS provides a highly automated system that allows notices to be sent to parents daily advising them of absenteeism. It can also be used to broadcast other messages such as information on school events and sports notices.

SENDS is an easy to use, web based system accessible from any PC connected to the Internet. It does not require an additional database to be established, using instead a simple file upload facility of parents' contact details from your existing database. Full setup details are included in the user guide.

Alacrity use on Australian based messaging provides insuring the upmost levels of security are maintained. This low cost system features a short setup time and requires only a minimal amount of administrator training.

SENDS is supplied with a detailed starter pack including:

- A detailed user training guide
- Suggested template for an Opt in request letter to parents
- Guide to database setup and data export
- Examples of message templates text
- Support contact details
