Former KAZ director Michael O'Sullivan has joined Canberra m-commerce company Alacrity Technologies as a director and consultant to handle commercial and legal matters.

O'Sullivan's immediate focus will be internal processes, to ensure sales and delivery are in harmony.

He spent 14 years at KAZ, where he was commercial director.

Alacrity provides an interactive mobile internet platform, called CLEW, allowing organisations to interact securely with mass audiences securely over mobile phones in real time.
